

Abstract of the Disclosure

An apparatus is disclosed comprising a supporting plate with bores for receiving sample-receiving vessels and connection means for irreversibly connecting the vessels to the plate. Such an apparatus is useful for connecting individual vessels or sets of vessels used for collecting samples and assembling them permanently into a fixed array for further procedures, e.g., testing of collected samples.

TESE "4062001